Conference Highlights

Our 110th Annual Conference was our largest conference ever, with 473 attendees! Thank you to everyone who came to learn and network IN PERSON with fellow tree wardens, arborists, and others, for the first time since 2020.

Incoming President, Ed Olsen, presenting outgoing president, Art Goodhind, with a custom cutting board, thanking him for his service as President.

A Recap

In keeping with MTWFA tradition, Tom Chamberland, past president and retired Tree Warden in Sturbridge, led a moment of silence for members who passed away in 2022: Ed Budnick, Bob Reardon, and Paul Mazzerall. The business meeting continued with board members delivering reports on the past year. (Minutes of the 2023 meeting can be viewed on the Mass Tree Wardens' and Foresters' Association webpage.) The meeting was paused and the educational programs began. The day was anchored by an excellent keynote talk about forecasting weather for municipalities delivered by WBZ-TV chief meteorologist, Eric Fisher. Over the course of the day, attendees heard updates from state partners and others.

The business meeting continued at lunch where Jeremiah Pearson, of Falmouth, was named Tree Warden of the Year. Following the afternoon sessions, attendees gathered for a reception. Wednesday's roster included a variety of speakers and the popular Tree Warden Panel. This year's topic was managing private trees that endanger the public or public property and there was a lively discussion. The day's educational programming ended with a disease update.

That left two important events - the Childs Raffle and the remaining door prizes, including chainsaws. Richard Parasiliti, Jr., won the Childs Raffle and this year, we had three chainsaws to give away - one purchased by the association, one donated by Read Custom Soil and one by Site One. Brande Tarantino won the MTWFA saw, Andrew Houle and Dave Theberge won the other two saws.

Thank you to our exhibitors, sponsors, speakers, attendees, and everyone who came to help make our 2023 conference a success.

Brande Tarantino, winner of the MTWFA chainsaw, with Tom Brady.

Lisa DeMeo, Salisbury, with Tom Brady and the carved bear sculpture she won as a door prize, donated by Favreau Forestry Products.

President's Message

Happy New Year! I want to start by thanking everyone for a great time at our 110th Annual Conference in Sturbridge, MA. It was great seeing and meeting so many of you in person. This year we had record attendance. As you all probably noticed we were a packed house with just under 500 total attendees on Day 1. It took a worldwide pandemic for many of us to truly realize what matters most to us. One thing that I realized is that I value my participation and time spent working with and for various professional organizations, especially this one. I personally forgot how much I missed our special group of professionals, students, educators, leaders, and commercial partners. Some of us don't get to see each other often. I realize that this conference offers many of us that opportunity, and for that I am grateful. I want to say thank you to our Past President Art Goodhind, Heather Leff our Executive Director, and all our incredible volunteer Board members for making this conference truly one to remember. Again, I want to thank all our commercial partners. It was nice to be able to spend some extra time with them as well this year catching up. Also, thank you to all our presenters. It will be tough to match this year's line up of topics, presenters, and keynote speaker, but we are already on the case.

MTWFA is a diverse group and one that is constantly evolving. Change is not something most of us take lightly, but change is always necessary and part of life. I hope to be part of a positive change for this industry during my time as your president and I look to the support not only of our executive Board but also from all of you. For positive change to happen, we need action. I look forward to working with you all on actions to help strengthen and support us as a group. I stay hopeful and confident that better days are ahead and that from group action and leadership, we can all mold a better future for all of us. I encourage you all to share your thoughts and opinions on how we can do better. Those of you who took the conference survey, thank you. We do review every comment and value those opinions. This Board is changing. I remember being one of the new faces many years ago.

Well now, after a decade, I can say there are many more new faces that continue this great tradition of service and industry leadership. Many groups struggle to find new interested people; we do not. With this said, I hope to see and welcome even more new faces into our organization over the next two years.

Typically, this time of year I have a chance to reflect, plan and get my ducks in a row for the new year. Typically, a little snow provides many of us a little relief from the daily demands upon our multifaceted operations. Seldom do I wish for snow, but I kind of want a little to hold people at bay and remind everyone that it is winter. As I write this, the temperature outside is nearing 60 degrees and is close to record high warmth for February. A couple weeks ago, our Forestry Division responded to a tree down on a Friday night. I believe it was 30 degrees below zero that night. Tomorrow, we have snow expected. Looks like we are off on another wild ride here again this year in New England.

As many plan for Spring, we look forward to celebrating Arbor Day. I look forward to planting trees and handing out seedlings, meeting, and educating youths and adults. Speaking of which, please remember to order and order soon. Our seedling sales are going quick. I wish you all a peaceful rest of your winter. If it wasn't 60 degrees out today, I would say I also look forward to warmer days ahead. Thank you all for your support and I look forward to a Great 2023. See you soon.

A Letter from Karen Doherty, MTWFA Retired Executive Director

Dear MTWFA friends and colleagues,

Although I had to miss this year's in-person conference, I have deeply appreciated the many messages that came to me via mail and video. It was so good to see and hear from so many of you! The newsletter editors have given me this opportunity to express my thanks to everyone in this association.

Let me first tell you how I came to know the Massachusetts Tree Wardens' and Foresters' Association. The MTWFA board officially hired me in 2006, but my inauguration with the association began several years before that. In 1998, as a UMass graduate student working with Dennis Ryan, the results of a survey I sent to tree wardens became the basis for my 1999 graduate thesis. That next winter, I presented the survey results in a talk to MTWFA annual conference attendees at the old King's Grant Inn in Danvers.

Two years later, I partnered with Melissa LeVangie (now Ingersoll) to create Trees New England LLC, an arboricultural consulting firm. Together we teamed up on projects that included municipal tree inventories and utility consulting work, and our company had an exhibit booth at several annual MTWFA conferences in Sturbridge. Although by 2006 we had each accepted other positions, and I was also in the middle of my term as president of New England Chapter ISA, I jumped at the opportunity to work on a more official basis with this familiar group of tree wardens. When the position of MTWFA executive assistant was posted, I was excited to be considered and selected for this new challenge. In May 2006, with Marc Welch as president, I took over from Kelly Woods and was eventually named executive director.

I soon discovered that this organization was even more unique than I knew. The teamwork, cooperation, and good will of board members at monthly and annual meetings has never failed to impress me. I believe that such dedicated board service has been and continues to be a hallmark of the association. I will never forget my several opportunities to be in the company of distinguished former board members whose interest and persistence over many years were essential to its preservation and growth.

It is impossible to distill fifteen years into a few lines, but I want to share some highlights that stand out for me.

- By far the most notable: our 100th anniversary in 2013, especially the annual conference in January and the UMass gala dinner in March. Our members and guests filled the celebrations with pride, nostalgia, and a lot of good partying.

- The annual conference was always for me the high point of the year. When the January days finally arrived, I loved seeing old friends, meeting new members, and greeting all the folks I talked and worked with throughout the year. When I received the 2010 President's Award from Kevin Weber, Town of Sharon, it was a recognition that MTWFA had reached a new level of growth and with it, success in its administration.

- The Tree Warden of the Year celebrations in May each year showcase the hometown achievements of the TWOY. It is always rewarding to see how our tree wardens are appreciated for the difference they make in their communities.
- Helping to facilitate the debut of the MQTW qualified tree warden program and innumerable PDS trainings has been a source of great satisfaction. I am proud to have had a small part in developing these significant educational opportunities.

I am deeply honored to be the recipient of the Dr. George E. Stone Award, the association's highest honor. The guidelines state that this award shall be granted to those who have "continually demonstrated a strong commitment to the industry, significant advocacy on behalf of public trees, dedicated volunteer service to the organization, and willingness to support and lend a helping hand to the association." I am grateful and humbled to be one among a company of distinguished recipients.

But know this: I have been blessed to have worked with ALL the members and associates of MTWFA – all you amazing people whom I have met, known, worked with, and admired over the past 20+ years.

Thank you for the memories, and most of all for the privilege of working with you and for you. Both as individuals and as a group, you are among the best people I have ever known, and you gave me fifteen years in a job I truly loved. It has been a great finale to a career, and I will miss you!

Karen smiling at the registration desk at the 100th MTWFA conference in 2013.

Announcing Tree Warden of the Year Jeremiah Pearson, Falmouth

The Massachusetts Tree Wardens' and Foresters' Association presented the 22nd annual Seth H. Swift Tree Warden of the Year award to Jeremiah Pearson, Tree Warden and Parks Superintendent for Falmouth. President Arthur Goodhind presented the elegant silver tree award to Mr. Pearson at the association's 110th annual meeting and conference on January 10, 2023.

Jeremiah Pearson has served as Tree Warden and Parks Superintendent since 2018, prior to this he was the Tree Warden for the Town of Barnstable from 2017-2018 and the Town Arborist and forestry crew leader for Falmouth from 2013-2017. He is currently responsible for a street tree population consisting of 260 miles of Town and County roads, as well as trees located within 250 acres of parks, public buildings, cemeteries, and school grounds. He is committed to the preservation and treatment of an inventory of over 200 municipal elm trees to combat Dutch elm disease and enjoys assisting the Conservation Department with removal and mitigation of invasive trees in conservation parcels and wetlands. Since he has held the role as Tree Warden, he has advocated and received $70,000 in Capital funds for tree planting and has utilized the Department of Conservation and Recreation's Go Green Challenge Grant provided through Eversource. Mr. Pearson proudly hosts annual, large Arbor Day events that incorporate several Town Departments, elementary school children, Eversource, and local tree companies to promote the benefits and importance of trees.

Mr. Pearson began his forestry career at the age of 17 working summers for a local tree company as a tree climber. He has worked in the tree care industry since 1995 and has obtained an A.S. in Environmental Technology, certificate degree in outdoor leadership, and became a certified arborist in 2006 and Massachusetts Qualified Tree Warden in 2021.

Since 2018, he has orchestrated the cleanup efforts of several large scale tropical storms, an EF1 tornado, and Nor'easters that caused widespread damage throughout Cape Cod, most notably the tropical storm Wanda in October of 2021 that was responsible for tree damage unseen since Hurricane Bob in 1991. Mr. Pearson recognizes the importance of building a strong team with continued education and utilizing the newest and safest techniques the industry has to offer. Jeremiah Pearson is most deserving of the Seth H. Swift Award.

Mr. Pearson works to maintain Falmouth's Tree City USA status. The Town of Falmouth has been recognized as a Tree City USA for the past 23 years. The Tree City USA program provides communities with a four-step framework to maintain and grow their tree cover. Municipalities must maintain a tree board or department, have a community tree ordinance, spend at least $2 per capita on urban forestry, and celebrate Arbor Day.

The Tree Warden of the Year award was created in 2002 to honor the late Seth H. Swift, a longtime tree warden for West Springfield and an active member of the association.

The association plans to hold a commemorative tree planting in the Town of Falmouth in honor of Mr. Pearson's award. Details will be posted on www.masstreewardens.org.
